JUNE 3, 2019 Vol. 19/06

JUNE = Hostilities, Terrorism, and Outright WAR!

This is a world condition and as such, is harder to determine who will and who will not be affected seriously. It does touch our President's chart which increases the likelihood of U.S. involvement. Neptune is highlighted and there may be religious elements to certain areas of this turbulence and perhaps drug connections as well, to others. These effects will likely take hold in the latter half of this month.

This is NOT a Joke! We have previously predicted the date of the Challenger explosion, the Chernobyl incident, the Kobe earthquake, Saddam Hussein's unexpected attack on Kuwait, Diana's Death ("Tragic Love"), and 9/11/2001. On that last, we said: "The U.S. will be AT WAR around the weekend of 7-8 September (2001)-Three days off. The FBI called us from Phoenix on that last one. They lost interest as it turned out to be astrology-related. The Chernobyl mention was also off by 2-3 days. All others were Exact to the Day!

We are not infallible, by any means, but that is an impressive record, and we don't know of any better one. They have all been written in this newsletter and several mentioned on TV or in BARRONS, or Forbes well in advance of events.

Therefore, we urge you to take some cautionary measures as best you know how. Our minimal recommended advice would reduce equity exposure and increase bonds, metals and perhaps even Bitcoin if you are so inclined. Keep more cash than usual on hand, and check supplies of water & food, batteries, matches and toilet paper, just in case.

When conditions are powerful and confusing, we always recommend prayer and meditation and whatever practices assist your personal balance, as there is little we can accomplish individually to affect international interactions.

Be careful and be well!

You can see from the above chart that the S&P topped out at a slightly higher high and has now broken below its 50-Week Moving Average. It has also rendered a Sell Signal on the MACD Indicator in the lower portion of the chart. The Major Stock Indices are so far following our projections for the last month or so. If it continues to do so, it should drop down to or near the December lows and the rising 200-Week MA (blue line).

Our cycles projections would suggest another attempt to rally into early September, Labor Day or so, before going down for the count! The rally may start in late June or sometime in July.

May turned out to be the worst market month this year, topping off with last week's decline of -770.65 or 3.01%. The DJIA was alone in declining for the sixth straight week. More tariff wars, with Mexico this time, is given for Friday's gap down below most Major Indices 200-Day Moving Averages. Although it was exceedingly negative technical action, it was due to an unexpected news event. We'll see if markets can resist further negative price action. We think June's tough aspects will prevail downside.

Our daily projections missed the big down day on May 13. Our after-hour analysis showed a similarity to a known negative pattern but with a substitution for a closing ascendant for a known negative Mars pattern. We'll be ready for that one next time.

Overall, it was a mistake to lean on the dates where there were many two-planet aspects, without regard to their classical designation. An overwhelming imbalance is required for a directional judgment. Aspects in Both directions remained mixed!

Early June has not so much activity and the 14th is the first highly active date. After that, however, powerful negative aspects overwhelm positives and mediums alike, leaving us with an awesomely dangerous negative balance. Batten down the hatches!

June 16-27 is a particularly rough looking period and we predict an excess of Violence, Terrorism and even Open Warfare. Take precautions to protect from accidents as well as intentional harm.

A prudent man foreseeeth the evil and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished. PEACE be with you.

ALL OUR STOPS ARE CLOSE ONLY

FINALLY, WE'RE GETTING SOME SERIOUS BUSINESS DONE HERE!

All of the MAJOR STOCK INDICES have now broken below their 200-Day Moving Averages. As of Friday, most gapped down with massive losses on the market Open! Such was the frightful tweet by President Trump after the Close on Thursday. "Investors dumped the Mexican peso and piled into haven assets Friday, as President Trump's threat to impose tariffs on Mexico rattled global markets. The peso was down around 2.5% against the dollar after hitting its lowest levels of the year earlier in the session. The dollar fell 1.3% against the Japanese yen, while other popular destinations for nervous investors, such as gold and the Swiss franc, also rose." [WSJ]

Last month, we mentioned: "Another short term 'trading' Sell signal we like to keep an eye on occurs when New 52-week NYSE Lows first recover above 40 for three consecutive days." Then we described a failure to get the Sell Signal into May 3, Friday, prior to our last CP letter. We did get the expected 'legitimate' Sell into May 13 with significantly higher New Low numbers 85, 60 and then 123 on Monday. But with a DJIA drop of -617.38, you already know something is bad wrong! Markets since then developed another more impressive confirmed Hindenburg Omen, written up by Robert McHugh, starting on our website and further expanded and continued on his Gold Eagle website: <http://www.crawfordperspectives.com/documents/WeGotAnOfficialConfirmedHindenburgOmenStockMarketCrashWarningSignalOnMay20t1.pdf>

The LONG BOND has broken sharply higher and closed the week above its 200-Day Moving Average for the first time since 2017. Rates are dropping worldwide, with commensurate price increases to the inverse. Last month we wrote: "Rates down further? The BONDS will spike UP."

Bitcoin has finally made a positive breakout! GLORY BE! A downtrend line has been penetrated and very minor highs have been exceeded. It could be a beginning. At least it is the best yet since the final (so far) top. In previous letters we have asked for some 'higher highs' and some 'Dynamism!' Finally, our requests/prayers/demands have been answered with the "...rise above $4400 but it will take $7600 to beat the six-month high from mid-October." We got BOTH – Thankfully

We are certainly more interested with this 'proof' of BTC's ability to recover some decent ground. Though it may take some time with backing and filling to complete a bottoming process, this recent strength brings back a degree of Confidence to this marketplace. Anything that has moved as much as this as fast as this, let's call it 'resilience' is likely to be able to regain at least a portion of its past glory!

OIL (CL-daily)

TEN YEAR RATE (TNX-daily)

OIL CONTRACT has had the Worst Month of This Year

10-YEAR RATE has Continued in COLLAPSE MODE!

The OIL chart (above left) sustained a substantial rise from 42 to 66.60 as of April 23, topping on the same day as several major stock indices and is continuing to match their declining pattern into last Friday. We wrote here last month: “If this triple support breaks (60 level), Oil will likely be forced into consolidation below these levels and perhaps a more comprehensive new decline to correct and stabilize the move up from 26. It would not be unusual or surprising to see a corrective decline carry to 54-56 or thereabouts.” You can see from the chart that it closed the week at 52.73 and could be threatening to drop lower. However, it has entered a range that created a ‘shelf’ in the 50-54 area in late 2018, and may attempt to stabilize there. The Bad news is that it did break that triple support, and then proceeded to additionally damage the 50% retracement level from 42 to 66, that being 54.

General rates and TNX in particular peaked in Early October and, after one last retest of the highs, which failed, proceeded to more or less collapse from 3.248% down to 2.55% in a rapid two month decimation. All the action of the last one and one-half months has taken place under the powerful 2.80% support line, now resistance. One last pop up above the declining 50-Day MA (red) failed miserably and morphed into an additional Collapse Wave. This Wave is international in scope. Apparently, the fear has been growing of economic weakness around the globe, to the extent that a “Flight to quality” has been taking place as investors move funds from stocks into bonds. This has the effect of raising the general level of “safe” bonds and inversely, lowering their rates.

The U.S. Dollar Index (no chart) has continued to make slightly greater highs, but on lower momentum. This leaves the current advance somewhat in doubt. However measured the internal weakness appears, there has yet been no break of any trendline or moving average or any other clear or immediate indication of breaking to the downside. Therefore the advance Must be considered in continued evidence without a technical reason to exit positions.

To the editor (BARRONS) In “The World Created by Upside-Down interest Rates” (Current Yield, May 24), Jim Grant rightly observes how remarkable it is that the world’s monetary system has produced more than $10 trillion in debt with negative nominal interest rates. That would have been judged simply impossible by virtually everybody until it happened. To understand this curious outcome, I believe we have to see it as deriving from a previous monetary event that also had no historical precedent: the world-turning-upside-down arrival of the whole global monetary system becoming based on pure fiat currencies – on the mere paper or accounting creations of central banks. This system appeared in 1971 – quite recently, historically speaking. About its prospects, Milton Friedman later wrote, “The ultimate consequences of this development are shrouded in uncertainty.” The consequences so far have included making central banks so powerful that they can render a huge swath of interest rates negative, a result certainly not foreseen. How has the fiat system otherwise performed? Well, we had financial crises in the 1970’s, 1980’s, 1990’s, 2000’s, and 2010’s. Quite a record. The pure fiat currency, central-bank-trusting system might possibly be the least bad monetary system, but it is evidently far from perfect. Its further long-term consequences still remain “shrouded in uncertainty.” Alex J Pollock R Street Inst. Washington, D.C.

Friday, GOLD broke solidly above its triangulating corrective pattern which had been holding it captive since the February intermediate top. That is the best short term action this year. The question then becomes: Can it approach and do the same with its Long Term Resistance Line? That line has kept it captive for about six years. To be determined!

It is a strong technical positive that the price has stayed well above its 200-Day MA (Blue line). Then Friday's action consisted of an upside gap above the 50-Day MA (Red line) and also the Triangle forming over the last few weeks.

It is also somewhat traditional that GOLD gapping Up is in mirror image of the major stock indices gapping Down simultaneously. We guess it's Fear that brings things back to traditional standards! And fear is born of uncertainty. Do we have 'uncertainty'? We would say "in Spades" or more originally "in Swords" as Tarot would claim.

Just completed the astro-analysis for June and THIS COULD BE THE BIG ONE! ADD to WHATEVER POSITIONS YOU HAVE, NOW!

The COMMODITIES are generally mixed to lower. Corn, Wheat & Soybeans are higher while the OIL Complex is sharply lower across the board. May has been the biggest down month for the Oils. The closely watched economic commodities are COPPER for general business, Lumber for housing and Platinum for the Auto Industry. They are ALL LOWER!
