HAPPY BIRTHDAY TENZIN GYATSO!

July 6, 2015 Vol. 15/7

The above named 14th Dalai Lama completes his 80th year today. Let us all pray for his well being, as His Holiness certainly prays for ours!

July is a very difficult time for planetary dynamics, one of the worst we have seen for a while. Wednesday the 15th is the most massive concatenation of planets in hostile angles to one another! Problems may begin on the 14th as Venus and Mars attack Saturn, representing Conservative elements. Pluto, Saturn, Mars, Venus, Mercury and Moon are ALL involved. There will also be a large predominance of the Water element – associated with extreme emotional responses. This will be some sort of Red-letter day! It's not likely to be happy and it's not likely to be bullish.

The period 8-13 is expected to produce a low in Gold, Metals, Oil & maybe other commodities. The 19-20 are especially bullish for the aforementioned G-M-O's. A combination of Mercury, Sun and Venus looks as if it might lift equities on the 23rd. The weekend of 25-26 will bring out the energy of hatred with situations boiling over. We could see the 30-31 Full Moon with Venus re-entering Leo, first Up, then Down later for the Metal Complex.

On August 2-5 another challenging multiple planet alignment throws monkey wrenches into every available mechanism as Venus and Jupiter annoy Pluto and the stationing Saturn. Mercury comes along and does the same thing on the 6th.

Other dates to watch are the Eclipses on September 13 & 28 and aspects to those points before and after the actual events. There are many LINKS to analyses pointing to great events in September on our website at:

It does NOT make sense that market indices continue to make higher price highs while market internals are in collapse mode - one instance being shown by the above chart of NYSE New 52-week Highs minus New Lows (10-day average). As you can see, the highest level of this year was on February 4 and the deterioration since has been steady and steep. We have also mentioned often that New Lows above 40 for three days can be an effective short term Sell signal. In the current instance, the third day was May 27 and since June 2, they have not been back below 40 for a single day.

The last stretch below 40 was 29 trading days from March 19 through April 29, or 41 calendar days, which is exactly 1.5 lunar orbits around the earth. Just a coincidence? Maybe.

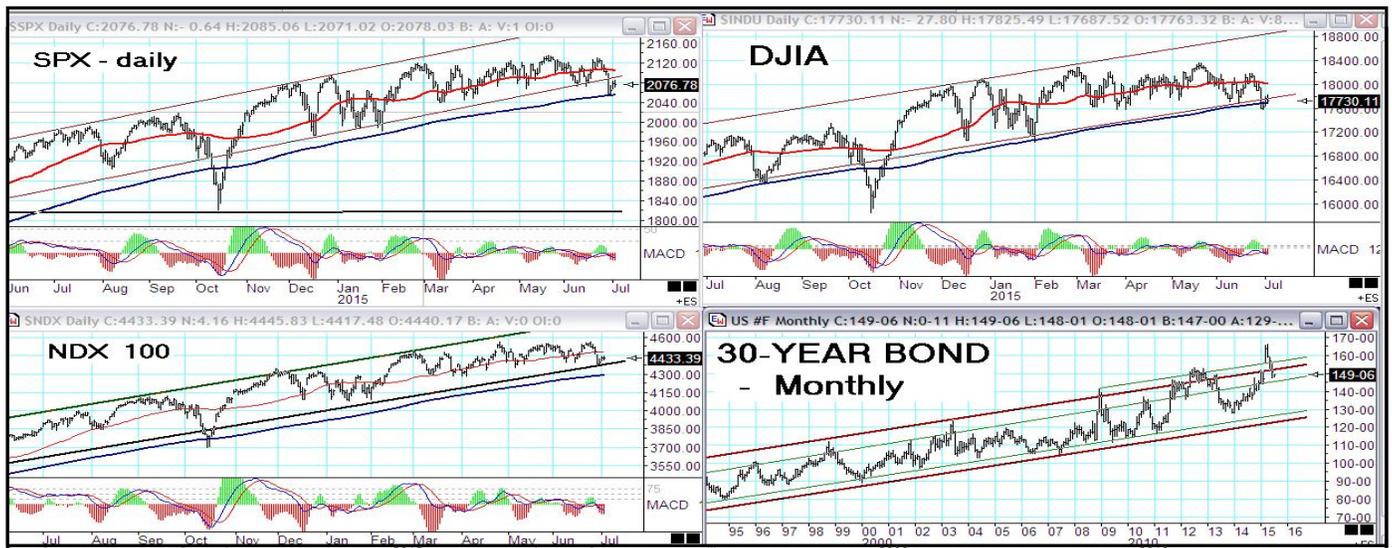

Investor's Business Daily records the number of "Distribution Days" in a trailing month. That is defined as a Down day on increasing volume. They tied for the 3-year record back on April 2 with a "9" reading on both S&P and NASDAQ. They were subsequently dropped off with little downside activity resulting. However the NYSE Advance-Decline Line did peak just after mid-month and has dropped since.

They reported that the "DD" count returned to +8 on Friday June 26 and would have made the "+9" on Monday, but volume declined ONLY because of the Russell Index rebalancing on the previous business day. That counts as a 9 in our book! What that means is that the Heavy Distribution is continuing and getting worse.

We were stopped into a return to 200% Short in the S&P500 index on the sizeable drop last Monday. STOP on new position is any close above 2160.52.

Our stop was Not activated on the DJIA Index so we are advocating an immediate increase to 200% Short ASAP!

Since the Major Indices intermediate channel lines are now breached tonight in the futures markets, we expect that the divergences that have been developing for some time will take hold immediately and here is no way to assess how much damage will be inflicted on price levels until at least the mid-month configurations and then the Huge September Eclipse uncertainties.

ALL BROKE BELOW THEIR 50-DAY MA's; SPX & DJIA ALSO BROKE L T TRENDLINES

Long Term trendlines gave way under heavy selling last Monday, but so far, the 200-Day MA's remain the primary support for the SPX and DJIA. The long term trendline on the NDX held well above its 200-DMA but the DJIA even broke the 200-Day, yet recovered quickly. World markets are thus hanging in the balance, awaiting Sunday's Greek results. No matter what the near-term results, there are plenty of astronomic reasons to expect the worst come mid-month!

Well, the S&P500 futures just (6 pm EDT-Sunday) opened down -30 points and DJIA futures at 17,430 -220 points, so the long term trendlines and Moving Averages are history. No matter what the cause, this represents a major shift in the desire or ability to hold things together. This breakdown of important support levels represents a loss of control or a firm determination to move to the endgame of political and economic force coming to the surface.

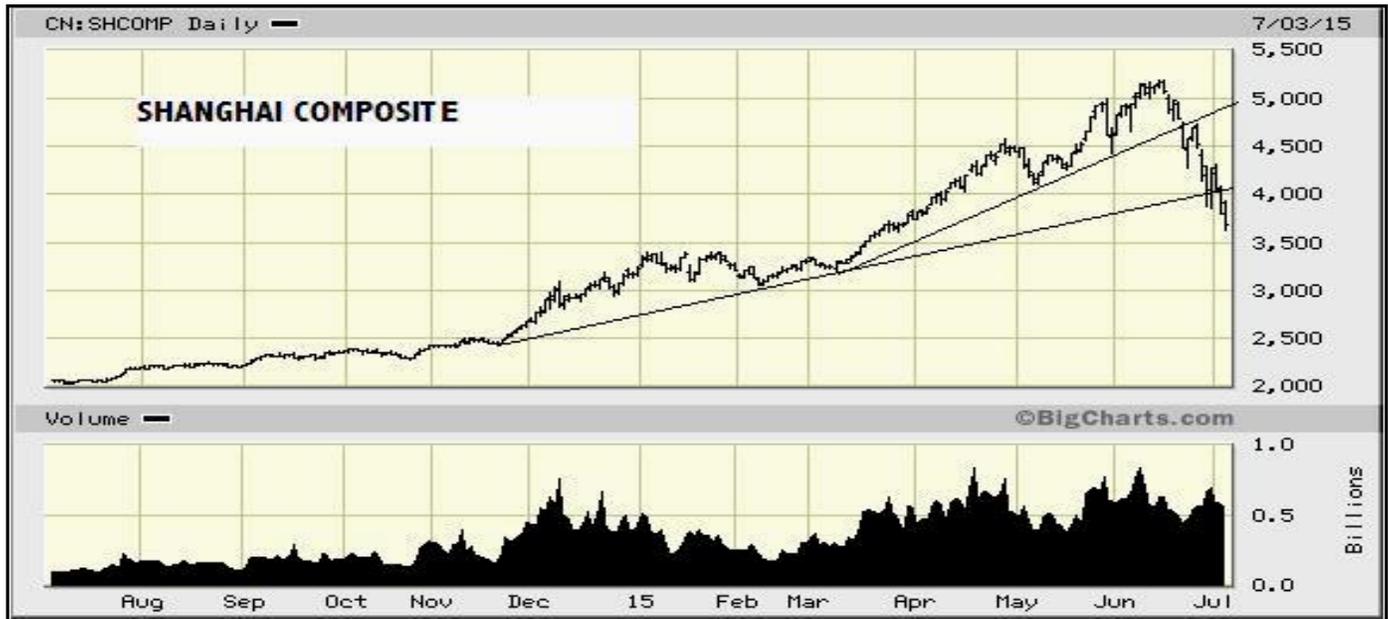

The next major support should occur in the region of the December-February price lows, and if those break, then the deeper October lows are likely to kick in some amount of support. We have been concerned that these markets would continue to advance until some major crisis hits, at which time they might possibly move rapidly to crash mode with little or no further pattern development. We are definitely concerned about that NOW!

We are calling attention to the Chinese problems on page three. Another surprise popped up in the form of Puerto Rico whose Governor says they are bankrupt, but they met the July 1 payment that was expected. It is not likely to be able to meet the next one or ones. Chicago and California will undoubtedly be the next on our watch lists unless we get more surprises from areas not yet heard from publicly!

We certainly live in "interesting" times. The next few days in particular and the months of July and September in particular are loaded with incredibly energetic planetary alignments suggesting that "change" may be overriding "hope"! There will be efforts by authorities to regain some control over their constituents, and there will be resistance by the constituents to forego the control of their "masters". War is possible, even likely, and Civil War is not out of the question.

Chart #4 above is the 30-Year Bond (price) and it appears to have made a huge upside acceleration breakout and then failed to follow through, breaking back down into the old trend channel. It looks as if a significant reversal of trend has occurred. So far, the TNX or 10-Year RATE is indeed showing the inverse of this pattern. The TNX has just exhibited a "Golden Cross" with the 50-Day MA crossing upside through the 200-Day MA [not shown]. That being the case in the Interest Rate, the Bond Price has the inverse pattern or "Death Cross". Consequently, we expect a further rise in rates and fall in bond prices.

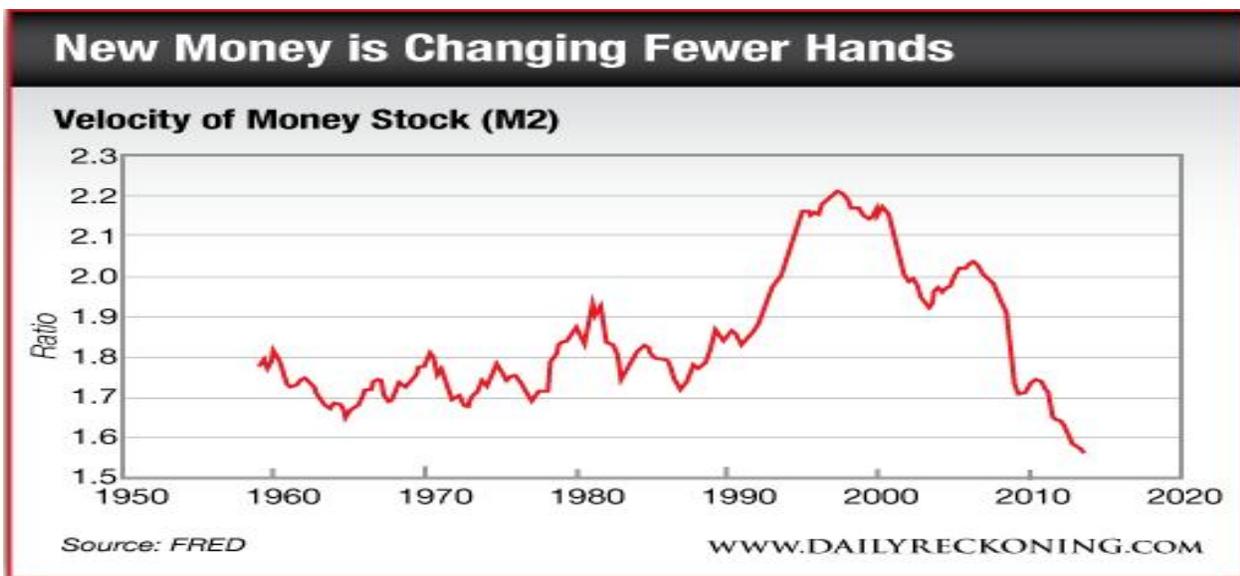

We think it is time to consider these friends of ours who are available to assist in preparation for the unknown:
 For metals we have purchased from Pat & Linda Gorman at Resource Consultants in Tempe, AZ (1-800-494-4149) and www.buysilvernow.com I have been a speaker at their conferences for over 15 years.
 For long-lasting FOOD items I bought from Virgil Jackson and Celeste Chiappetta at Living Valley, LLC in Bigfork, MT (406-837-1350). They are very knowledgeable Preparedness Consultants, specializing in long term food storage. I bought food from them in March 2010, since doubled in price.

SHANGHAI HAS CRASHED THROUGH CRITICAL LONG TERM SUPPORT LINES!

“China stocks fell sharply again on Thursday, fighting off fresh moves by regulators to restore confidence and raising questions about how much more firepower Beijing can bring to bear before a full-scale panic sets in. Shanghai’s benchmark share index crashed below 4,000 points for the first time since April - a key support level that analysts said had been seen as a line in the sand that Beijing had to defend, below which more conservative investors would start ejecting from their leveraged positions, widening the rout. Chinese markets, which had risen as much as 110 percent from November to a peak in June, have collapsed at an incredibly rapid pace since June 12, losing more than 20 percent in jaw-dropping volatility as money surges in and out of the market. That drop has wiped out nearly $3 trillion in market capitalization, more than the GDP of Brazil.” - Reuters/Aly Son

“The second largest stock market in the entire world is collapsing right in front of our eyes... Over the past several months, I have been trying to hammer home the comparisons between what we are experiencing right now and the lead up to the U.S. financial crisis in the second half of 2008.”-Michael T. Snyder on Stockmans site

MONEY, MONEY EVERYWHERE, BUT NOBODY’S DRINKING IT?!

The Federal reserve has the power to expand the Money Supply – which they have done in abundance. But they cannot force people to spend it – It’s like “pushing on a rope” – So the Turnover is falling off a cliff. All that printed money is Not readily available to those who are willing to spend it. The public appears to be frightened and is largely paying down debt or hoarding beyond necessities!

GOLD has stabilized for the last seven months between 1130 and 1300. Although there have been a couple of higher lows in the price action recently, there remains as yet no single higher intermediate high during the entire declining period. We recommend an “insurance” position to be held until a Really Rainy day, where it may mean survival, or not. Otherwise, we have only had trades for the upside twice in the last couple of years, both of which were quickly stopped out. A Short trade would certainly have proven more perspicacious but we erroneously perceived that major surprises would be in the opposing trend. There is still no indication that change is in the wind, or in the cards, but we’ll see how the Greek tragedy plays out in the Fx markets these next few days. When currency markets fail, there will be a reckoning reflected here!

The US DOLLAR INDEX has made a very nice recovery back above its 50-Day MA to the exact 50% retracement of recent range. It is now backing off quietly but holding above that MA. Current events may present reasons for a more immediate spike, as the DOLLAR may hold on for 2-3 more devaluations in others before it too gets tapped. [no chart]

The OIL came right down to the Long Term trendline, then recovered to the 200-Month MA. After flirting with that for 3-4 months, it appears to be breaking back into its negative longer term trend! That even longer term support trendline (from the 1990’s) should now hold in the 47-49 area. Below 42, the post-Katrina low at 33 beckons.

ASTRONOMIC ACTIVITY – (Give all these a time period of +/- 2-3 Days)

- JUN 22 = Although the weekend seems rough, personally, Monday morning brings a Jupiter trine to Uranus – Often a market TOP!
- JUN 23-24 = Tuesday looks more than a bit rugged especially around mid-day. Mars at zero Cancer Wednesday shatters whatever peace remains.
- JUN 29 = Venus trines Uranus and parallels Jupiter = Looks good for a secondary peak – May put in THE High?!

- JUL 8-13 = Trines to Neptune could put in a low in Gold, Silver, metals, etc.
- JUL 15 = Amazing multi-planet configuration points towards heavy downside of World equity markets – whether about Greece or Not!
- JUL 14-15 = For the U.S. = Disagreement – Anxiety – Nervousness – Change of mind! - Serious or traditional social matters. Serious sky stuff!
- JUL 15-18 = For the U.S. = Efforts at control. Uncomfortable restraint. The blocking or denial of aggressive instincts. Activities meet resistance!
- JUL 19-20 = Sun contra-parallel Pluto; Neptune attacked by Mercury and Venus = Bad for stocks – Good for Gold, Metals, Oil.
- JUL 23 = Sun, Mercury & Venus positive = Good for equities – Pleasant socially.
- JUL 25-26 = Weekend brings out the worst side of humanity = Extremes of anger, action in hatred. Destructive energies abound.
